Executive Summary

Workers' Compensation & Disability Consulting from Ingenix provides you with the information you need to make intelligent choices, create best-in-class workers' compensation and disability programs, and effectively manage medical and total program costs.

- Become proactive in controlling programs
- Reduce workers' compensation and disability program costs
- Improve the quality of care and recovery time for injured claimants and employees

Overview

Our consulting services for workers' compensation process design and cost reduction programs help employers reduce current and future loss costs as well as the frequency and severity of the losses. We employ advanced technology, an unparalleled wealth of health care and claims utilization data, years of consulting experience, and deep knowledge of the property and casualty markets to provide valuable solutions and strategies for our clients.

We provide employers, payers, and providers with the information and technology they need to make health care and benefits more affordable, manageable, and easier to access.

Advanced technology promotes understanding

We use innovative tools to help you understand and proactively manage your workers' compensation and disability programs.

- Parallax i® integrates and analyzes all health and productivity programs to provide an overall health and productivity snapshot to help you see opportunities for enhancements.
- PowerTrak®, a premier medical bill review and repricing tool, enables you to reduce medical costs with speed and accuracy.
- Our new discovery tool provides a thorough assessment of your program and process while identifying areas of improvement and best practices implementation.

Unparalleled health care and claims utilization data

Ingenix maintains one of the largest arrays of health care claim, billing, provider, and demographic data sets available. We use our unique compilation and analysis of data to provide you with valuable information that helps you more effectively manage your workers' compensation and disability programs — a business advantage that sets you apart from your competitors.
